The Best Government in the World. We had thought ours the beet; but some people couldn't let well enough alone. North some people pronounced our Government a covenant with death and a league with hell. Seme of them thought our fathers committed s great error in allowing a vice in our inetitutions that would sap its foundations. It was a house divided sgainet itself which eculd not stand. Some of the South have found grievous faults with this best Government in the world. It was managed, they said, to benefit the North at their expense. These factions have been fir from admitting that ours was the best of Governmen's. One thought that some of its intolerable delags ought to be nullified, and they undertook to do it; whilet the other faction thought the Government too bad to be endured, and they have andertaken at isfinite cost to break it up. It has, unfortunately, turned out that there factions have got control of public affairs in the two accgot control of public affairs in the two acctions of the Union. Neither the powers at Executive power into the hands of a perly, and the Richmond nor at Washington believe that our old Government was a good one. One side desires to keep all the territory, but to make a change in the Government to sult its notions; the other dealres each to take lie balf of the divided house and fit up to cult it-

They are the people we want to find. They are the people we must depend on to restore what we have lost. We can't depend on others. They don't believe the old Government was the best. They don't want it restored. They believe it not fit to be endured. We can't trust the word union, for it is equivocal. Who are the friends of the old Govercment over all the Statte? Thry are the real Union men. Russia has a union of vast territory; other governments have vast territories; but the union of vas! territories does not make the best of governments. Indeed, a pulon of territory has little to do with good govern-

They may be find accusting or other in them that I may for a anion, but the term is missppiled in choose to scop. At any rate, they can do no this case. They are not for the United States of America, is rec grized by the world; but ments-go on and perfect your theory of ir for a scinetling misnamed union, that the sword can make, if there be power enough.

The Presidential contest is beginning to rouse up the people in the Eastern States, si hough the suiject is viewed with more in difference in the West. The split in the Re publican party since the nominations has become definite, and the rancorousness of each side is fully shown by the protest of Wale and Davis. Half the R publicats would rather see a Democratic candidate choses than Mr. Lincoln, and their energies are directed against him with that object. They have the consolation of knowing, while dolig this, that for once they are on the popular side, no matter what may be the motives which drove them there. An amusing circumstance connected with this is that each of them accuses the other with being supremely radical-s position of which each was proud a month or so ago. The New York Times, with a gravity that is absurdly ridiculous, rebukes the Frementers because it says he is for the abolition of slav wy more than the restoration of the Unior. One to hear that charge from such a quarter would suppose that Mr. Llucoin had never addressed that letter to "all whom it may concern," in which he distinctly makes the abolition of slavery a condition precedent to any negotia-tion for a restoration of the Union. He gives us to understand, as his party has given us to anders and from the first, that the Union with slavery is not desirable, and he will not have it. Fremont may be of the same opinion, but he has never said it as distinctly as Mr. Lin-

The party of the former has one decided advantage: it has thrown off all responsibility for the acis of the President; for the sup pression of free speech, and a free press, and for arbitrary arrests. This advantage they do musing to lookers-on.

I; is not only in the Republican party, howver, that we find this awakening. The triends of McClellan in New York are becoming fusty aroused, and are holding meetings and forming themselves into clubs for the promotion of his chances at Chicago. They are zealous and carnest, and have the advantage of the aid of the World. The Republicans do not eppose him with as much zeal as they do others. Some of them have even urged the President to appoint him to a command, probably in hopes this will be his destruction. The New York Herald is speemedically for Grant, and breaks out occasionally in absurd and silly paragraphs on the subject, which will effectually destroy his chances. The peace wing of the Democratic party is working zealously, although they put forward no particular person. This is doubtless designed, and is perhaps wise. It will be time enough to cettle that matter at Chicago,

The New York World has an catimate of the material resources of the South, to preve that the exploded theory that we can starve them out is a fallacy. We have always regarded this as equivalent to the lishman who was found in his shirt-tail, on a bitter Decem ber night, holding a dog by the cars. On be ing asked the reason, he replied that "he was trying to freeze the beast to death." We do six inches to diameter and three and a half not need the figures in the World to prove that we are about as apt to hold out in starving out the South as the Irishman was in freezing the dog. It is just as well, however, for the World to lay the facts before the people, in hopes it may correct errors; and one fact derived from the statistics is well worth copying, and that le: "The resources of Towas in neal callle soure cupable of meeting, without undue strain, a continuous and unceasing draft equal to the rations Rhovels, Hoes, Spades, Forks, &c of a million men; and this year ofter year." It can be added, too, that all other things are in proportion.

The New York Times, speaking of the tingulahed radical leaders. Without claiming and 45 to report to blm immediately; any great credit for our power of falth, we can believe Davis and Wade and the Times too. The kettle calls the pot black, and the pot calls the kettle black:

CURIOUS STORY OF A PHOTOGRAPH.-When the war broke out a young man belonging to Boston enlisted and carried to the field with him a photograph of his betrothed. He was taken prisoner and corfined for a long period in the Libby Prison, at Richmond. While there one of the robel officers on duty, happening to of the ribel (micers on date, suppressing to have seen the photograph, appropriated it and refused to return it to the owner. The officer seemed lufatuated with the likeness of the Northern beauty; and, in order to have op-portunity to talk about her, made himself the instrument of many kindnesses to the cap-tive. At last the young soldier was exchang-ed and in due time loined him retiment. or, and in due time joined his regiment.
During a recent battle he was at the front, and seeing a rebel officer very prominently engaged in directing his command, the Massachusetts soldier leveted his place and shot the characts soldier leveled in piece and suot the ribel commander. Our men advanced at the came moment, and on passing the spot where the dead rebul lay the soldier recognized him as the officer who had appropriated his lady-love's photograph. [From the Bristol (Rebel) Gazette.] The Federals in Knoxville are carrying things with a high hand, as awail, "treasuring ap wrath for the day of wrath."

They are continuing their daslardly course toward the Southern women, whom the fortunes of war have left in their hands by reason of their occupation of East Tennessee. It is understood that they have drawed from their inderstood that they have dragged from their homes the wife and daughter of Brigadier General J. C. Vaughe, and have consigned them to the walls of one of their many besiles, whilst all the females of Judge Dyke's family have been, like their aged and venerable father, torn from their hearthstones, and apirited away to some unknown prison, without the shadow of a trial, or even the for mailty of an accusation.

Mrs. Dr. J. G. M. Remsey, and her dang b ter, Mrs. Bruck, arrived here under flag of truce from Knoxville, a few days since. They were accompanied by Miss Carrie Low, who held, without any charge whatever against ber, as a close pustner, during all which time she has been treated with much rigor and se-verity, the inhuman cilicials not suffering her clothing to be sent to her, or even allowing her a change of raiment for five weeks.

Brigadier deneral Sam. Carter defends himself over his own s'gasture in a late number

The Reason Why Napoleon Wants Texas. [Correspondence N. Y. Post.]

BOSTON, July 28, 1964.

Who that understands the history of Texas, from the day that the first cotton seeds were planted there, but knows that the Third Napoleon, by his invasion of Mexico, means any uning but the conquest and control of Mexico. He cares nothing for Mexico, only as the means of controlling Texas, and keeping his flagers on Trans cotton. The writer saw the first bale of Texas cotton packed, and for years watched the French agents and French houses, always on hand to buy the best por-tion of that silky floer; and so absolutely necessiry has it become to France and her sitk manufacturers, that Louis Napoleon hopes to offer terms to Texas that will egable her (aking agrantage of this rebeliton) to declare ner independence, and give him an ample supply of the silky staple of that region. He no more wasta Mexico than a coacn wasts its fits wheel, only as it will give atm power there to support Texas and keep up his supply of Texas cotton. 3) important has this cotton become to "rance, that ne must have it, or the silk manufactures of France will languish. Any person conver-sant with the manufactures of that country knows that from one third to two-thirds of the stock of French silk labrics is composed of Texas cotton. There is no doubt that since the battle of San Jacinto France has pocketed at least one hundred millions of dollars for Texas cotton, which she has sold for silk. Under talk statement of lasts, can any one doubt that it is Texas cutton that fouls Napoleon is aiter? A dealer in Franch aiks here tells me that he has had ostenable Franca silks that were two-thirds cotton, while the poorest that you can now flad nere is one-third cotton.

At last advices the situation before Petersburg remained unchanged. All interest, so far as active military operations go, is now entirely centered in the force under Sheridan, whose brilliantly-inaugurated campaign goes on most encouragingly.

The World's Washington special says there is reason to bell we that another battle has been fought near Winchester between Sheri-dan's forces and the main body of rebels un-

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT, FRIDAY EVENING, August 12th, 1864. Gold closed in New York to-day at 188% prem. ons of the most mischievous fluancial falacles of the lay is that a tight money market is necessary to preven over-speculations. In Europe, where money is generally abundant and interest low, no such silly devises are not considered improbable, but no material change is expected very soon.

The report that Beauregard has gone to Athanta is interested here as an absarding a large number of prisoners, near Winchester, and that Early is in full retreat.

Passingers by the Evening Star from New Orleans report the rebots in strung force outside Algiers, within six or seven miles of New Orleans, fortifying the piace apparently with the intention to make it an object of defense. They are commanded by Gen. Taylor.

Oriense, forciving the place apparently with the intention to make it an object of defense. They are commanded by Gen. Taylor, Trebe district is also occupied by the ene my in large force, in order to prevent another awhence of our troops through that region to Mr. Davis has receeded in virulence any bing over written of Mr. L'acoin in the North.

Becereionista in the Northeut say it is of no improvement of the control of the Greenhow in Richman and the awked the Sauthern President Why.

All speculations are not injurious. When Sister went into the cotton spinning speculation, in Rhode Island, a great public benefit was the result. The same may be said of sundry other manufacturing speculations, as well as speculations in building railroads, steamboats, &c. A tigh money market leads to a bigh rate of inter-
